Private Equity: Listed vs Unlisted

Innovators, imitators and idiots

Monday, 24 November 2008 10:30am

Yale Endowment wannabes trying to emulate their heroes with high exposures to timber products pushed up prices to 30 times pre-tax cash flow, setting them up for big falls in 2009.

The frenzy, reported by Barrons, a newsletter published by the Wall Street Journal, was because junior endowment funds were rushing to lift their timber allocations from 9 to 11 per cent.

For current investors it creates a lucrative secondary market, which will come in handy as some endowment funds are reporting overall fund write-downs as higher as 15 per cent due to the post-June market shakedown, they reported.

Barron's said Jeremy Grantham, head of GMO, is now more concerned about the Yale wannabes than he is about properly resourced players such as Yale.

"It's obvious to me that few of those emulating Yale have the resources of Yale and the talent of Yale to pick the right managers."

Paraphrasing market guru Warren Buffet, Barron's said, "First come the innovators, then the imitators and, finally, the idiots."

Financial Standard

Alternatives

- Potentially excellent
- Actual implementation is the challenge
- Not really viable for most
